

About Aloula Brand

Aloula is First Mills' premium consumer brand, positioned at the intersection of quality, innovation and value-added food solutions.

The brand focuses on high-margin flour, mixes and baking products designed for modern households and small bakeries, with a clear emphasis on usability, consistency and performance. Aloula plays a strategic role within the portfolio as the primary driver of customization, innovation and margin enhancement across retail and emerging digital channels.

Premium solutions driving value-led growth

In 2025, Aloula strengthened its role as First Mills' innovation-led growth engine by advancing its shift toward cooking and baking solutions with higher value density. The brand prioritized portfolio diversification, premium channel execution and operational discipline, reinforcing its contribution to profitability and deepening relevance within priority consumer segments. Performance during the year reflected Aloula's ability to translate innovation and focused execution into commercial impact across both physical and digital touchpoints.

Channel Execution and Commercial Focus

During the year, Aloula refined its commercial strategy to prioritize high-potential channels rather than geographic expansion. The brand activated 200 premium modern trade stores nationwide and strengthened its presence across key retail environments through more targeted execution. In parallel, e-commerce was advanced as a core growth channel, delivering a meaningful uplift in online performance and reinforcing Aloula's visibility among digitally engaged consumers.

Innovation through Ready-mix Expansion

Aloula advanced its innovation agenda with the launch of the Tea Cake Mix range in November 2025, introducing vanilla, orange and chocolate variants. This marked the brand's entry into the ready-mix baking segment and expanded usage occasions within the consumer portfolio. While the launch occurred late in the year, it represented a strategic milestone in Aloula's move toward higher value-added solutions, with commercial performance to be assessed in the next reporting period. Additional innovations, including pasta products, remained under development during 2025.

Enhancing Usability and Customer Experience

Customer experience improvements in 2025 focused on clarity, guidance and responsiveness. Aloula upgraded preparation visuals across specialty mixes, expanded its recipe library to support broader usage occasions and improved digital community management processes to guarantee faster response times. These actions strengthened product accessibility and reinforced the brand's service quality standards across consumer touchpoints.

Leveraging AI for Brand Execution

Aloula incorporated AI-enabled tools to improve execution efficiency across content development, recipe ideation and early-stage packaging design exploration. These applications reduced development cycles, improved internal alignment and supported more consistent communication across channels, reinforcing operational discipline while enhancing customer-facing materials.

Aloula in 2026

Looking ahead, Aloula will continue to focus on portfolio diversification, premium channel optimization and digital commerce expansion. Planned priorities include the phased introduction of additional ready-mix innovations, strengthening modern trade execution and the continued enhancement of packaging clarity and product usability to support sustained growth across high-value consumer segments.

